

SOLANE

VALPOLICELLA RIPASSO

DOC CLASSICO SUPERIORE

2018

A careful balance of the “ripasso” technique using Amarone pomace and ageing in cherry-wood barrels gives this mainly Corvina blend Valpolicella’s softest fruity notes. Solane: an expression of Valpolicella culture.

VARIETIES

Corvina, Rondinella.

PRODUCTION DISTRICT

Several selected plots on the hills of the Valpolicella Classico subzone, particularly the Marano valley.

ALTITUDE AND ASPECT

The vineyards are situated between 150 and 300 metres above sea level. Most face south-west, with a few facing south-east.

TYPE OF SOIL

Clayey limestone, with gravel.

TRAINING SYSTEM

Mainly Guyot-trained plus a few pergola-trained. Yields per hectare are strictly limited.

HARVEST

Commencing in late September, the bunches are handpicked and placed in crates for immediate dispatch to the cellar.

WINEMAKING METHOD

The grapes from the different plots are fermented separately on the skins, with a maceration period of 15 days and pumping over at carefully controlled temperatures in the attempt to achieve distinctive wines, enhancing the unique characteristics of the fruit and its terroir. Valpolicella waits until January for the production of SANTI’s Amarones in order to undergo the “ripasso” process with the pomace, which gives them power and personality.

AGEING

After blending, the various structural and aromatic components of the wine are harmonized by ageing in barriques and in large barrels for a total of 18 months. The wine is then aged for a further period in bottle before release onto the market.

SENSORY PROFILE

Valpolicella Classico Superiore Ripasso Solane is a very terroir-true, forthright wine with great character. It has an attractive deep, bright ruby hue and a clean, complex, typical nose with concentrated notes of fresh berry fruit and morello cherry jam, swathed in vanilla. On the palate it is warm, direct, and balanced, with an elegant spicy finish offering notes of toast. It has a strong personality, thanks to its exceptionally elegant, sophisticated nose and its long, lingering, full-flavoured palate. An excellent early drinker, it only improves with time.
